To Whom It May Concern

REFERENCE: CLELANDS CONSTRUCTION

Archimedia have been working with Southern Cross New Plymouth Hospital since 2001, on a comprehensive refurbishment and redevelopment of the hospital site. Clelands Construction have been involved as the construction company since 2004 and during that time have undertaken refurbishment of the inpatient wards and the main reception and lobby area, construction of a new theatre suite and refurbishment of clinical back of house areas and they are currently undertaking extensions and alterations to the day surgery and recovery areas. The various Contracts involved have all been on a negotiated basis.

Clelands Construction's performance has been outstanding, with a very high level of professionalism and quality. They have exhibited an exemplary attitude towards what has been at times a difficult project, with the need to keep the hospital running while work has been undertaken. This has required multiple stages and at times flexibility around the sequencing of construction. The Site Foreman Tony Harker has established an excellent working relationship with the staff on Site and Bruce Earby has always been thorough and professional in his role as Construction Manager.

It has been a real pleasure working with Clelands Construction and I unreservedly recommend them as a construction company with an uncomplicated commitment to excellence.

Yours faithfully
